1. From MD Delegate Sue Kullen, thanking the Council for its financial support and expressing excitement of returning to Annapolis to fight for working families

2. From the Central Maryland AFL-CIO, thanking the Council for financially supporting their annual Labor Day ad in the Hagerstown Herald-Mail

3. From the National Labor College, thanking the Council for its contribution for the capital campaign for the Kirkland Center.

4. From MD State's Attorney Glenn Ivey, thanking the Council for endorsing his candidacy.

It was moved, seconded, and approved to fill existing board vacancies in this way: To replace Frannie Olshefski as First Vice-President, Gino Renne (UFCW 1994); to replace Renne as 3rd Vice-President, Sandra Falwell (DCNA); to replace Falwell as a general board member, Chuck Graham (IBEW 26).

The rest of the meeting was taken up with discussions about the primary election results and Labor 2006.

Craig Simpson handed out a report for results in Maryland, outlining successes and failures and identifying participant unions and volunteers. Rick Powell handed out a similar report for DC (see attached reports)

Naomi Walker, AFL-CIO Political Department and Deryk Spooner, Maryland Labor 2006 Coordinator, outlined the AFL-CIO plan for Labor 2006. Unified campaigns with the CTW locals critical, 30 states have been targeted including statewide as well as general assembly races in some states, and that volunteer recruitment has been hard everywhere. The Labor 2006 plan includes 4 elements: worksite mobilization, local union mailings in local union envelopes, local phone calling and neighborhood labor-2-neighbor walks. 130 labor coordinators have been recruited from locals in MD and they will meet 9/19/06 at the Meany Center.

Ms. Walker explained that since the CTW unions are not part of the AFL-CIO, they have to be charged by law for political services from the federation. This was worked out in an agreement months ago. Some of the CTW unions are now charging their locals thousands of dollars to cover the cost of the list generations, research, personalized mailings etc.

Discussion centered around several concerns:

- The bulk of the area campaigns for the primary for the AFL-CIO operation were carried out by CTW local unions. Having carried the AFL-CIO campaign, why should they now have to pay for the privilege to their national unions in addition to having paid for staff leave time, generation of volunteers, contributions to the MWC for its operation etc
- Several local unions do not want to work with the Maryland State and DC AFL-CIO, and prefer that that entity focus elsewhere in the state for its programs.

· The fact that the AFL-CIO Labor 2006 effort and the state federation ran conflicting programs and neighborhood walks at the same time as those scheduled by the MWC reduced effectiveness of both.

· Relative to staffers of national unions, top down support for the effort, including letting them off to volunteer, and allowing them to wear their own local union t-shirts, is critical for this group of workers.

Most CTW locals indicated that they wanted to support the MWC campaign and would, but would not support Labor 2006 in its entirety as currently structured. After much discussion, it was determined that President Williams will call Karen Ackerman, Director, AFL-CIO Political Department to see if something can be worked out, including the possibility that an area including Montgomery County and Prince George's County are "carved out" from the Labor 2006 operation and activities are managed and operated by the MWC in those areas.

Craig Simpson and Rick Powell then indicated that further endorsement actions and recommendations are necessary for the general election.
